Brockton Notes.

By R. F. Weaver

(All communications intended for this department should be addressed to R. F. Weaver, New Brockton, Ala.)

Mr. Editor, did you think nothing was happening in Brockton that we have not written sooner? Well we were waiting for the new telephone system to get in operation so we could call up the folks and ask "What's the news," but we could not wait so much is happening.

Two marriages! yes in one day and all home material at that. Two new homes for Brockton, four happier hearts sealing their vows of love. Two young men turning aside from the desolate path of single cussedness and turning down the rose tree pathway of matrimony, "Whose sky is overarched with flashing storms and shining stars," two smiling and happy ladies leaning on their arms! May life's adventures strengthen their love and devotion and may its sunshine be brightened by their joys. Who were they? Oh yes, Mr. William T. Owens a popular and highly respected business man here to Miss Robbie Irene Heath, one of Brockton's most highly esteemed young ladies, the daughter of I. N. Heath.

They are now at home with Prof. and Mrs. Weaver.

The other happy young couple is DeWitt L. Baggett, the barber who will shave you without talking, and Miss Ora Mae Russell, the daughter of Mr. Jim Russell, below town. She was one of the leading young ladies of Betheny community and is warmly welcomed to Brockton by her many friends.

They are now at the home of Mr. Baggett's father here. The marriages occurred Sunday at the home of Mr. Willie Baggett near Baggett's church.

Feb. 22nd was also made temperance day at the Brockton Public School. At 11 a. m. the school listened to a most interesting address on "Temperance and Intemperance" by Rev. J. F. Daily of Enterprise, pastor of one of the churches here. The afternoon was taken in honour of Washington.

Walter Rivenbark spent several days last week with his brother Ab, at Iron City, Ga. He reports that "Ab" is doing a flourishing drug business.

Albert Howell was with friends at Enterprise Sunday.

Charley Dickert made an interesting trip down near Samsom Sunday.

Ewell Harris and Willie Rivenbark went over to Newton last week.

J. E. Engram went to Dothan Sunday.

Mr. Givahn Perdue and Miss Virginia Paul passed through Brockton from Elba one day last week.

W. H. Brock came down Sunday.

Miss Nancy Crawford of Dothan was the guest of her sister Miss Annie at Richburg last week.

W. D. Hutchison, of Andalusia, was at his father's home last week.

Horace Brock came to Brockton Saturday enroute to Enterprise.

A number of Brockton men attended court at Enterprise this week.

Have you noticed the new buildings going up on the east side? Mr. Adams and Prof. Marley are putting material for buildings and Dr. Massey will also build out there.

REMEMBER—We are still making old clothes new for $1.

"Stump Pullers."

Farmers who have stumpy lands should read the following plan of B. L. Moss, from demonstration work agent, for "pulling" out their stumps. It would be a great saving in land to remove the stumps, and this plan is simple and can be followed:

Mr. Moss describes it as follows:

"When you were a boy, did you ever make a frog house? That's the plan I may add for those who have forgotten, that building a frog house consists of packing soft earth over your bare foot, then carefully drawing the foot away, leaving a tiny cave. The way to apply the Moss method to a stump is similar. Dig a hole a foot deep and eight inches wide beside the stump, against the top root. The hole should slant downward from the level of the land, like a miniature runaway cattle dipping basin. When that is done, put a round piece of wood two feet long and two inches in diameter, slanting at 45 degrees in the hole. Then take a piece of tin, eight inches wide and two feet long and stand it up in the hole about six inches from the stump, this dividing the hole. On the side away from the tin pack clay earth, filling the part of the hole from the tree and leaving a flus like opening six inches wide by the stump. Now lay the tin over the hole and pack moist earth over it about a foot or so high like an ant's nest, with the hollow over the flus, being careful not to damage the hole beside the stump you have left. When that is done, carefully draw the stick of wood from the soft earth, leaving a two inch hole running downward to the bottom of the flus, and draw the tin from over the flus. In the bottom of the flus put some kindling and set it afire. The hole left when the stick is withdrawn, will create a draft that will hold the fire against the stump until the whole of it is consumed, it ought not to take longer than forty-eight hours to burn out the stump.

The Moss method has been adopted by colonization and other land companies and is working wonders in freeing the land from stumps.

The House Passes Rylance Bill Today.

Montgomery, Feb. 22.—By a vote of 59 to 32 today, the House, amid cheers, overrode the Governor's veto of the Rylance bill, which authorizes Tallapoosa county to borrow twenty thousand dollars. This is the first real blow the House has administered to the Chief Executive.

Representative Parks today introduced his saloon and dispensary regulation bill.

Many new bills of minor character have been introduced, and several have been reported favorable from the committees.

Both houses opened the regular routine work this morning.

In the senate, after hearing several bills favorably reported, the Senate took up the Court of Appeals bill as amended, and a discussion on the measure followed.

Geneva Court House Burned.

Geneva, Feb. 22.—(Special.)—Fire in the city last night completely destroyed the court house containing a fire loss of about $25,000, fully covered by insurance. Origin of the fire is unknown.

All the county records were rescued before the conflagration had made much headway.

Our neighbor county seems to be very unfortunate. They suffered a similar loss many years ago when all the court records were destroyed.

The Parks' Bill Approved by Gov. O'Neal

Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, Gov. O'Neal affixed his signature to the Parks' Local Option Bill, and it is now a law. There were only a few present when he signed the bill: being the author of the bill, W. L. Parks, Representative; J. Lee Long, former Senator; Perry Thomas, Hon. Byrd Farmer, Hon. Ed. D. Gaffney, and the Governor's Secretary, Jno. D. McNeil.

When the governor signed the bill, he used the following remarks: "Alabama has returned from running after fads and theories, to sanity and conservatism." Just what the Governor meant by this remark we do not know, probably future developments may explain his meaning. Did he mean that sobriety is a fad, and prohibition a theory? And does he now hold that saloons will restore in Alabama, sanity and conservatism?

From Double Head.

News in this section is very scarce. We are just not "newy" except for weddings. We have plenty of them, and there is nothing short about these weddings except the cake, and we make the cake short when we get to hovering around the table. I will be sorry when they are all over, for I won't have anywhere to go on Sundays.

Come all who are in favor of good roads, and let your wants be known. Should all the people be in the same notion as Mr. Hil-dred and myself we would soon quit traveling the knee deep sand beds.

School at Double Head has just closed. It was taught by Misses Dominy and Kendrick. All report a pleasant and prosperous school. We all regret losing both these teachers.

Paper Changes Hands.

The Elba Clipper, a twice-a-week paper, has changed hands. J. A. Carnley and Samuel Felder purchasing it from M. S. Carmichael.

This paper is one of the brightest weeklies that comes to The Journal office. Mr. Carmichael was a splendid writer and he was to be found at all times on the right side of questions which effected the welfare of the state and people.

Mr. Carnley and Mr. Felder are welcomed into the journalistic field and if they give the people of Coffee county as good a paper as Mr. Carmichael, their success is assured.—Montgomery Journal.

Mr. Malcolm S. Carmichael, for fourteen years editor of The Elba Clipper, retires from newspaper work. He is succeeded by his former partner, Mr. S. Felder and Mr. J. A. Carnley, the latter becoming editor. Under the guidance of Mr. Carmichael, The Elba Clipper has long been one of the most widely quoted newspapers in Alabama. He is a forceful, aggressive writer, and The Advertiser regrets that he is quitting a calling which he has adorned. We wish for the new management of The Clipper the brightest success.—Montgomery Advertiser.

New Baptist Church.

The Baptists of Elba have decided to build a new church, which is badly needed, and they are taking steps in the right direction.

The Methodists of Elba heartily second the building of a new Baptist church. The Methodists have just completed their new church and it is the pride of the town. This building is one of the best church structures, if not the best, in any town of Elba's size in Alabama. Now let us build such a one for the Baptists of our town.
